OKAN: Covenant with the Stars

Gary Schildt's depiction of the Blackfeet Medicine Lodge ceremony Produced by Cramer Productions

In Blackfeet country, Gary Schildt was seen as a gifted artist from childhood. It came as no surprise to people who knew him that he would take up a vocation as painter, sculptor, illustrator, "visual story-teller". Perhaps the highpoint of his career is his rendition of the centuries-old "Okon" or Blackfeet Medicine Lodge ceremony. Although the sacred ritual is a most private and respected tradition, Gary Schildt has been trusted by traditionalists to represent its high points as a legacy and teaching tool for present and future generations of Indian and non-Indian people.
